CHC struggles with budget cuts

75 Years Ago December 8, 1949

A Pembina County farm family, the J.J. Whelans of Crystal, have been named North Dakota state winners in the 1949 WNAX farmstead improvement program, the Yankton-Sioux City radio station has announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Leppke, whose farmstead was judged Foster County winner, were runners-up in the selection of the state winner. They will be awarded $50.00 in merchandise.

Next Tuesday night, Dec. 13, the local independents meet the Harlem Hobos, a traveling-colored team, on the local court. This team of trick ball handlers have players selected from some of the top-colored teams in the nation. Last year, this team won 127 games and lost 12.

Carrington High School lost two basketball games this week with Anamoose winning 27-21 here last Friday night and Fessenden taking a 44-43 victory there Tuesday night.

Sophia Garnacarek, a displaced person, arrived at Dr. W.C. Voglewede home on Nov. 12 from Germany, where she had lived seven years. She is originally from Poland and speaks the Polish and German languages fluently. She is 29 years old and will be employed by the Vogelwedes.

Oil paving of some of the streets in Carrington was brought a step closer to reality Monday night when the city council discussed the project at some length before turning it over to the public improvements committee for investigation.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bjerke of Sykeston were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary at the St. Paul Lutheran Church in Clark, S.D. The honored guests were visiting relatives there.

50 Years Ago December 4, 1974

The 95th birthday of Barney Reutter was celebrated Nov. 3 at the Hurdsfield school with 111 family members and friends signing the guest book.

The Country Kitchen on Highway 281 adjoining Carrington was opened for business Tuesday evening according to plans of the owners and manager.

A preview showing was scheduled for local people beginning at 5 p.m. and the place was to be open for business at 9 p.m. Bob Kautzman, native of Carrington, is manager.

Mrs. Lillian Wolsky, Chris Wolsky, Mrs. Jerald Wolsky and Jeffery of Kensal, David Wolsky of Fargo, Mr and Mrs. Leon Hoggarth and Mrs. Edward Wolsky of Valley City, attended the funeral for Christian Jon Wolsky, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wolsky, Corvallis, Mont. on Nov. 19. Christian Jon was killed by an accidental gunshot while hunting in the mountains with a friend, Nov. 16.

The "Comets," coached by Joni Bronaugh, defeated the "Cards," directed by Penne Skadberg, in women's basketball held at the CHS' gym by 26-16.

Renee Hopkins

25 Years Ago December 6, 1999

Carrington Health Center is struggling with budget cuts. The cuts are largely due to impacts of the Federal Balanced Budget Act passed in July, 1997. The legislation reduced Medicare expenditures to hospitals in the amount of $190 billion over the next five years. The first reduction, effective July, 1998, will affect home health agencies. The reduction will be approximately $600,000 less reimbursement.

Jane Vogelwede, daughter of Rosemary Vogelwede, Carrington, has become a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers.

Seven-month-old Zachary Magnuson was the winner of a Christmas Bear given away at Carrington's Alco store. The Christmas Bear is a trademark for the company. Alco gave away 174 of them this Christmas, one in each store across the country.

Carol Jean "CJ" Cummings, a Carrington native, was honored at a retirement ceremony Nov. 3 at Ellsworth Air Force Base in South Dakota. Cummings' retirement came after 29 years of civil service. She retired as the secretary to the 28th Bomb Wing Commander there.

Recent births - Tricia and Michael Schlegel, Bowdon, are parents of a baby boy, Cody, born Nov. 21 at the Carrington Health Center. He weighed 8 pounds, 12 ounces.

Obituaries - Gary Vande Hoven, 83, Carrington, died Thursday, Nov. 25 at Golden Acres Manor; Conrad Nisstad, 76, Glenfield, died Sunday, Nov. 28, at Carrington Health Center.

Stop n' Go specials - Pepsi products, 24 pack for $4.99; Doritos, $1.99; Roma pizza, $2.99; Old Dutch potato chips, buy one and get one free.

Vet's Club - Saturday, Dec. 11, "Northern Express," 8:30-12:30.

Area News - Glenfield: Thursday, Nov. 25, Janice and Leander Walen and Jeremy Neuharth and Tiffany Soshier, Valley City, all went to Wyoming to visit the Walens' daughter, Leann and family.

Margaret and Lester Dreher were Thanksgiving guests of the Jerome Paintners at Mayville.

Ann Harding and Alice Havn were guests at Clarice Somerville's on Sunday, Nov. 28.

Janice Thompson and Solveig and Russell Thompson were holiday guests of Lyndon and Julie Thompson at Carrington.

Croton, the rainbow plant

Dakota Gardener

Kelsey Deckert
horticulture agent, NDSU Ext.
Burleigh and Morton Counties

cal plant that is native to Asia and are considered an evergreen shrub. What a fun fact! In their native habitat, they can grow up to 10 feet tall and are used in the landscape as hedges or stunning focal points.

The foliage of crotons can vary depending on the variety. Colors can vary, with its green leaves variegated by white, pink, orange, red, yellow or purple, hence my reason to call it the "rainbow" plant! Their leaves can be oval, linear, lobed, or even wavy or twisted.

Like most houseplants, crotons do best in well-drained, moist soil. They will need a spot in the house that receives bright, indirect light. Crotons can be moved outdoors during the summer, making a great accent or pop of color on any porch. They should be placed in an area of partial shade. The coloring of their leaves responds to the amount of light they receive; higher light will give you a more vibrant color of foliage, whereas a lack of light can cause the plant to revert to shades of green. When in too much direct sunlight their foliage turns dull and gray.

Caring for a croton as a houseplant is simple. You will water the croton only when the top inch of the soil dries out. Dropping of their leaves indicates too much or too little water. They have few pest problems; you may see an occasional mealybug, spider mite or scale. Be aware that a croton does have irritating and toxic qualities. If you have any pets that tend to chew on plants this could be a problem. Skin irritation can develop from the plant's sap as well. Walking through a garden center this summer, I saw the "rainbow" plant and immediately decided it was coming home with me. My daughters were delighted to have such a colorful plant in our living room. They have mentioned to others how mom has a "croton plant," which is a fun way to start a conversation correcting them that it is a croton, not "croton!"
